

Advance Care Planning and Your Health Care Directive

Conversations that Matter

Advance Care Planning includes thinking about what's important to you, talking with those who matter to you, and writing down your wishes for health care and treatment in a health care directive.

Attend this two session course to learn:

- why advance care planning is always important and not just for end-of-life care planning
- how to identify your health care agent and have an open conversation
- the benefit of providing guidance for your health care choices and decisions through a health care directive
- what is needed for a valid health care directive
- where to file your completed health care directive and who should have a copy

Registration is required for these FREE classes.

Class size is limited.
