TARGET AUDIENCE

Oncologists and oncology related professionals, primary care physicians, advanced practice providers, registered nurses, pharmacists and other health care providers interested in oncology care.

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

Allina Health Cancer Institute (AHCI) is pleased to host its 2nd Oncology Symposium, bringing together oncology clinicians passionate about providing the most current evidence-based care. Sessions include case-based presentations on multidisciplinary approaches to breast, lung, GI and GU cancers, as well as hematologic conditions. Focused sessions include timely topics that apply broadly across the oncology spectrum, including novel therapeutics, surgical approaches, palliative care, and integrative medicine.

CANCER INSTITUTE

The symposium's goal is to provide targeted education specific to oncology physicians, advanced practice providers, nurses, pharmacists, and other health care providers. We also aim to provide a forum for clinicians to connect and discuss relevant practice topics. Walk away with updated knowledge and clinical strategies to share with colleagues.
